WHAT IS KASUKU?

Kasuku is the Swahili word for parrot.

- 1: A tropical bird that is often crested and brightly coloured, with a distinctive stout hooked bill.
- 2: A person who sedulously echoes another's words

Two interesting descriptions. And that is exactly what Kasuku Kikoys are all about. The parrot known for its flamboyant colours is effectively expressed in our collection of distinguished and equally vibrant colours. Going with the second description, our kikoyos echo our mission and vision. Our mission is simply to constantly and diligently persevere and innovate in order to give our customers not only what they desire, but also a diverse collection of items that reflect the trends of a modern world.

WHO IS KASUKU?

We are trendsetters.

Kasuku, established in 1994, has mastered the art of making adorable yet relaxing kikoyos for all and every occasion. Our workshop is in Kenya and we have been manufacturing kikoyos since 1998. We are utilising the best local talent and our culture-rich sources to give you the best. Our team of creative designers have blended the traditional kikoy designs with modern fashions to create a collection of enchantingly seductive, refreshingly relaxing and comfortably trendy kikoyos and garments.

Several accessories are handcrafted and the work is outsourced to 'collectives' of Masaai and Mkamba women and other groups who benefit from the extra income.

Kasuku is a family-run business and we pride ourselves in offering friendly service and personal attention.

At Kasuku we are constantly monitoring the current fashion trends and regularly innovating not only to keep with the trend but also to be always a step ahead.

THE KASUKU COLLECTIONS

In this catalogue, Kasuku has put together three main collections based on the type of fabric and colours.

The Kikoy Collection

The traditional kikoy is used for wraps, clothing, accessories and furnishings. An unrivalled number of colours and products in kikoy make this collection varied and suitable for all tastes. Made from 100% mercerised cotton, items in this category are comfortable and durable.

The Marini Collection

Marini in Swahili means attractive, elegant, fashionable and fresh.

Wraps and select clothing are made from the revolutionary new material we call the 'Marini'. It's lighter and more versatile than the classic kikoy. The Marini collection also made from 100% cotton, offers you a vast choice in colours.

The Safari Collection

"safari n an overland expedition, esp. in East Africa to observe game and wild animals in their natural habitat."

This collection reflects the true colours of a Kenyan Safari. We can rightly boast that the Safari Collection is exclusively Kasuku.

MARK OF QUALITY

Mercerised cotton gives our kikoyos a superior and unique quality. In addition, our own workshops with a quality control section ensure that we provide you with consistent good quality products.

DESIGNS OF DISTINCTION

The kikoy is a work of art and most traditional kikoyos were woven in two distinct designs that we call Kongoni and Kifarur. To provide for different tastes and changing fashions, Kasuku have developed two new patterns - Swara and Punda Milia. Put together, these four striking designs are able to meet the clothing needs of today; comfort, style and innovation.

STYLE BEYOND THE HOLIDAY

Though all these products may look ideal for the holiday, accessorised with bags, and jewellery, the Kasuku look works through from beach to broad-walk with ease.

They feel great when worn leisurely at home, and also look appealing at school, on safari or even at work.

MIX AND MATCH

Get creative and dress a Kasuku Kikoy or Kasuku Clothing with any of our footwear, bags and jewellery. Our range offers unlimited combinations, a versatile wardrobe ideal for today's fashion-conscious woman and man. And now with the Marinis, we give you infinite ways to put together colour and style.

Kasuku Clothing is cool, casual and comfortable. It is designed with leisure in mind and to bring out your individual spirit.

Sizes are according to the cut and most of the clothing offers a good range of sizes. For fitted styles eg. Women's Flared Trousers and Capri Pants we have more precise sizes.

Call it a Kasuku Kikoy, sarong, a pareo, lava lava or a lungi. Rectangular in shape, kikoyos make ideal beach cover-ups. Worn as a skirt, the ends of the kikoy are normally simply tucked in at the waist, no buttons, pins or hooks. They can be worn by guys and girls and anyhow. It's all up to how creative you can be. There are many other uses of the kikoy wrap...from sarong to scarf, tablecloth to throws, beach-blanket to sun shields. An African version of a 'pashmina', Kasuku Kikoyos are available in a wide array of colours and a choice of plain or striped patterns.

Size: 104 x 174 cms including fringes

Kongoni (Hartebeest)

This is the traditional kikoy that is plain in the middle and has a distinctive border. Kasuku's radiant and vivid yarn colours are combined together to give you an amazing assortment of this time-honoured design.

MARINI SARONGS

Kasuku Wraps are also available in the sensual Marini fabric for that even cooler and more relaxed feeling. The beauty of the Marini wraps is that they are made from ultra-light, sheer seductive cotton. You can craft them into any outfit you want, from a sexy bikini to a cool skirt. Kasuku Marinis come in plain colours and in two-tone (woven with two colours of yarn). Also in this range, unique to Kasuku, is the MARIKOY (a perfect blend of Marini & kikoy) in the Kongoni, Punda Milia and Swara designs. The hand-knotted fringes add to their charm.

The great East African Sarong

Kangas were traditionally made for women to wear but have long been unisex and multi-functional. The soft, improved, higher quality cotton from which Kasuku Kangas are made makes an ideal fabric for wraps, floaty skirts, trousers and shirts, sun and wind-shields, shawls and curtains.

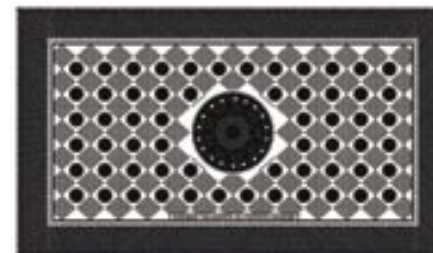

Unlike Kikoys, their designs are printed instead of woven. There are many established designs and more being invented every day. The distinct feature of each kanga isn't only the design, but the Swahili proverb printed on it.

Kangas make great gifts, especially as souvenirs of great events, and also make interesting collectibles. Kasuku Kangas are fringed at the two ends making them more fascinating.

Dress like the world-famous Maasai in their traditional attire. Heavier than both kangas and kikoyis; they are the traditional outfit of the Maasai. Shukas usually come in red - the favourite colour of the Maasai, to match their red ochre decorated bodies.

Made predominantly in a checked design, the colours and sizes of stripes vary.

Thrown over the shoulder or tied round the waist by a sword belt, they are multi-functional, from wrap to scarf, rug to blanket. Shukas are often used in Africa as tablecloths; dog blankets and are ideal for picnics. We provide you with a choice between the lighter 100% Cotton Shuka and the original heavier acrylic Maasai Shuka.

Kasuku assisting the local community

Our manufacturing plant is based in Ruiru, which is about 25 kms from Nairobi, Kenya. We offer steady jobs to hundreds of men and women in that area. We are totally compliant with the labour laws and support the community at large.

We also outsource some of our work to local community women's groups, which benefit from the extra income to support their families.

KASUKU SUPPORTS A CHILDREN'S CENTRE:

Since 2006, Kasuku has been supporting the Ruiru Rehabilitation Centre.

114

The Ruiru Rehabilitation Centre evolved from a local response to the increasing number of street children within and around Ruiru Town. It began as a feeding programme in 1997.

Local well-wishers gave the street children food once a week. In 1998, a temporary shelter made it possible for the children to have a roof over their heads and a stable environment. It started with only 30 boys but now accommodates 50 boys and girls who are provided with food, shelter, clothing and medical care in a clean and healthy environment.

All school-aged children are in school and the smaller children are being educated at the Centre.

In 2006, the Centre with assistance from Kasuku and others acquired four acres of land to build a more permanent structure with dormitories, a community hall, kitchen, toilets and bathrooms. In the long run, the plan involves building a school on the same piece of land.

Besides contributing money for the land, Kasuku also donates financially towards the day-to-day running of the Centre. Monthly, a percentage of the Kasuku retail sales is given to the Centre with a fixed minimum amount. By buying Kasuku Kikoys through our website you will be contributing towards a great and humble cause.

CUSTOMISED ORDERS

Whilst Kasuku has its own line of clothing and accessories, our large Kenyan workshop can undertake customised orders for certain quantities. Since we weave our own fabric, we can make kikoyis in corporate colours or colours to match the theme of hotel rooms. Call us or email to check on the various possibilities.

WASHING INSTRUCTIONS

Kasuku Kikoyis get better and better with washing and wearing.

Though mercerised cotton kikoyis are strong and colour fast, it is recommended to wash at 40°C and DO NOT tumble dry or bleach. Like all cottons, it is advisable to wash separately the first time. Set iron on cotton and use steam.

Kasuku Marinis are also made from 100% cotton and the same washing instructions apply as for kikoyis. Since the fabric is very fine, it is advisable to handle them with a little extra care.

Every reasonable care has been taken to ensure that the descriptions and colours are accurate. However certain colours due to the two-tone effect may have a slight variance.

Hand-dyed products and certain beads could have a slight colour difference due to the purely manual process.
